In an era where workplace demographics are changing dramatically, leading organisations realise they need to be able to attract and retain women in their workforce. In order to effectively do this they need to develop an understanding of the relationship women have with success and what factors attribute to their success both professionally and personally.

Perspectives Coaching has surveyed over 560 women to help us understand what makes women feel successful, what relationship women have with success and what factors attribute to supporting their success.

Join us at The Windsor for a special lunch where we will unveil the findings of this valuable research. Five incredible women will talk about what success means to them, and will share their strategies. They will form a panel facilitated by Sue Barrett (left) of Barrett Consulting to discuss the findings of the research.

Luncheon includes two courses with wine by JWOW Wine Bar, Yarra Valley Spring Water and complimentary copy of the Women & Success survey results. Fabulous door prizes to win.
